And top right: Advertising manager Daren Nitz compares his pile of ad contracts with a handful of cold cash payments.

The Class of 1981 is honored to dedicate this OWL to a man who has given so much of himself to Fountain Valley throughout his years here. He is widely liked and respected as teacher and friend, coach and advisor. He is an active participant in many of the organizations on campus that try to make Fountain Valley the best school that it can be. He is ready to talk with any student about any thing at any time. He is the chairman of the History Department, Peter Cahill Thorp.

Mr. Thorp is a 1966 graduate of Winchester (Massachusetts) High School who was a Dean's List student and outstanding athlete at Williams College. Upon graduating, he spent a year studying city planning in Europe and worked on a medieval archeological dig in southern France. In 1975 he earned a Master of Education degree from Boston State College, and that September he joined the Fountain Valley faculty. Here at Fountain Valley Mr. Thorp has served on the Community Council, the Academic Committee, and other organizations. He has worked in the dormitories, and been coach of several winning teams. He is known for his high standards on the playing field and in the classroom, and he is the kind of teacher who helps the students push themselves that little bit harder toward real achievement.

Senior Pages

Gillian H. Johnson

Special Thanks to Sarah Shaw (Sarie) for laughing with me, crying with me, and for some of the best times of my life (streaking, and midnight escape . . .). Carolyn, for not only being a faithful friend but a listener and a fantastic roomie. Erika for bedtime serenades, Hunter Frost for a beginning that will never end, Eric M. (Stretch) just because I love you!, John A. for something more than a friendship and an evening at the Broadmoor I'll always remember, and NOLS for a one-of-a-kind experience shared with my closest friend Laura. Above all, thank you to those who mean more to me than anything in the world; Mommy, Daddy, Dean, Anne Laurie and Laura - not only for encouragement and support, but for allowing me to be Gillian Johnson. To say I love you would be an understatement.

CHEERS

Mom and Chuck for pushing me forward
(not straight). Cleo and Sky for the magic, the music, the art. Toni, Giz, Cin (hey), Mitz, Rhonda, and Bob for "molding my character". For absolutly everything.
Stuart for holding out, teaching me, loving me. Patskin — the moving force of my whole FVS experience. L.'s, H.P.'s, R.E.O., our-r-room. Of Course Hill and oiseau who constantly amaze me. Mick — long live insane adventures. Rosser — long live insane romances. Special thanks and respect to Doc and Emory.

Nice mash Ken ... nice mash

... 'Books! 'tis dull and endless strife:
Come here the woodland linnet,
How sweet his music on my life,
There's more of wisdom in it.

And hark! how blithe the throstle sings!

He, too, is no mean preacher:
Come forth into the light of things,
Let Nature be your teacher.

She has a world of ready wealth,
Our minds and hearts to bless — Spontaneous wisdom breathed by health,
Truth bequeathed by cheerfulness.

One impulse from a vernal wood,
May teach you more of man,
Of moral evil and of good,
Than all the sages can.

Sweet is the lore which Nature brings;
Our meddling intellect
Mis-shapes the beauteous forms of things:-
We murder to dissect.

Enough of Science and of Art;
Close up those barren leaves;
Come forth, and bring with you a heart
That watches and receives.
William Wordsworth

In Loving Memory Of Nikki Bunch
(That Calls For A Bowl)

"Before me was a rectangular vacancy — the ghost of a doorway without a door: I stepped through it and found myself in an open space like a great hall, its floor covered with grass and flowers, its walls and roof of ivy and vine, mingled with roses. The sun was down, and the sky was beginning to grow dark. The stars came, hanging in the leaves like live topazes, throbbing and sparkling and flashing many colors. Before me was a crowd of gorgeously dressed men and gracefully robed women. At first I could distinguish almost nothing of the faces of the multitude: I could not fail to perceive that there was something odd about them: Heavens! could I call them faces? They were skull fronts! — hard, gleaming bone, bare jaws, truncated noses, lipless teeth which could no more take part in any smile! Fearfuller yet, the eyesockets were not empty; in each was a lidless, living eye!"

Out side the street's on fire
In a real death waltz Between what's flesh and what's fantasy
And the poets down here
Don't write nothing at all
They just stand back and let it all be
And in the quick of a knife
They reach for their moment
And try to make an honest stand
But they wind up wounded
Not even dead
Tonight in Jungleland.

Okay Scott, here it is- The "Why I Hate Scott Corngold (excuse me, Corngold-Smythe) Page." So put it right there, buddy (Glass) I've got guts. Actually, I had quite the tough time deciding whether or not Sam Zakchem would receive the honors but what can I say? You really did make it into Williams. Oh, you prep, you. Did I ever tell you the story of why you should never wear polyester? You see, there's this plane cruising along, you know, minding its own business and everything and suddenly it catches on fire. Well, as it happened, all of the people in their double-knit Angel Flight suits blow up into fireworks and, happily, the smart, (well-to-do) Wall Streeters sporting hand tailored Brooks Bros. attire walk away unharmed. Someone with tast UP THERE knows where it's at. The truth hurts, right? Poor Sweet Baby, I can't waste my whole page on you. But, you can rest assured that you are still #1 on the infamous Nuke list. (along with the baby harp seals). I keep telling myself that I could be at Hotchkiss with the Rockefellers. Unfortunately, I was born in the wrong igloo and couldn't break the old ice. By the time this page comes out I will have been rejected by every single college in the country. I'm rather excited in fact because at least I'll get some mail. I was thinking that instead of wasting time with all this crap I could formulate the typical Senior Page. Or maybe, the typical yearbook autograph. Yeah, I just sort of hate writing- I'm so glad I got to know you this year, you're a really sweet kid, have a great summer (life), never change, love ya loads, keep in touch. I figure (and I assume correctly so) that you don't need to have a really good friend sign your book because you'll remember them anyway, and the people you don't really know well don't matter, otherwise you'd know them so who cares if they don't sign your book. Well the most logical progression to this is the abolishing of the year book (sorry Mr. Philipps). All I want to know is what am I doing here? I don't mean in an enormously profound sense, I mean in this crummy little room that used to be for storage. Builds character, I've heard it before. Thanks Dad. Cynicism has done one hell of alot for me (you helped, Paul). Lehman, you'd love this place now. I am bagging this Study Hall in memory of you. Thorp is going to think I'm just a neat kinda gal tomorrow when I can't tell him why the Stamp Act had such a devastating affect on the colonies. Hey, if it was that big a deal they'd be around today still bitching about it right? Harvard, here I come. Franny had the right idea when she conveniently chose a nice cozy place to have her breakdown. Maybe the Wang. Lots of cumfy pillows and stuff. Pam, you can join me, my friend. I've always yearned to lose consciousness to Z-93. I thought of more granfaloons, Dawn. Not only am I a Canadian, I am a minority. I know the number of Dominoes (that's right, Will) and, I use Crest (with some regularity, mind you). Oh, this makes me feel much more secure knowing that somewhere, there are millions like me questioning our morals as we discuss (intelligently) the pros and cons of abortion. IMPORTANT!!! I want to make clear to all of you who, for some reason or another, have been misguided by the impression that I have a superiority complex. This is just not the case. BE ACCURATE-CORRECTIONS COST TIME AND MONEY Hey Howzell, I hope you like that nifty little page of yours. It made it alot easier pour moi when selecting pictures for myself. Oh God, I just realized my i.d. card says Susan-Eva on it. Now let me explain. It's not like that's my real name or anything. Please folks, if the printers were able to print that cute item satisfactorily you will notice that it says 'This card must be returned if student withdraws or is suspended.' Neat guys, try again. I'm getting literary genius block. Happens to the best of us. Cam and Streeter I have some choice ideas for the forum. Mr. Philipps said he would judge so get those jisms ready. THIS IS SUE PORTER'S PAGE. This morning I got up and plugged in the curling iron but it's not like I really need to curl my hair but I wanted to look nice for the pep rally this aft. Oh that sort of sounded like I don't try to look nice all the time which is just not the truth. Geez I was tired on account of the fact that I stayed up ALL night helping prepare the bake sale. I was wavering between chocolate-chip and oatmeal but the chocolate-chip won (as always). It was really kind of bizarre because like I never eat too much. Oh gosh if I gained even a single pound I could never face the guys at school. I mean, isn't that the most important thing in the world? Being thin? Yes, back to the rally. What an incessant rambler I seem to be. Hee hee hee! I'm embarrassed. Let's hoof the chips folks. How unlady like I am. I'll never make the squad now. Later, much.

The leaves have fallen all alone
 Time, I was on my way
 Thanks to you I'm much obliged
 For such a pleasant stay.
 But now it's time for me to go.
 The autumn moon lights my way
 For now I smell the rain, and with it came,
 And it's headed my way
 Sometimes I grow so tired
 But I know I've got what I say
 What I've got to do.
 Ramble on
 Got no time to spread in route
 The time has come to be gone
 And though our health be drunk
 a thousand times
 It's Time To Ramble On.

MY WILL

I, John Miller, being of sound mind and body do hereby leave the following to my friends; To Mr. Mariner I leave a book of FUNNY jokes. To his wife, Mrs. Mariner, who seems to have everything under control, I leave the right to unofficially run the school. To my math and physics teacher Mr. Horner I leave a fantasy of his own. To Ms. Pigman I leave a pair of sheep shears for her dog, (and my love for history; if she want it). To Mr. Knox I leave a Shakespeare class in which someone is interested. To Mr. Henchey I leave three classes outside. To Mr. Patten I leave a wardrobe that doesn't clash. To my roommate, Jeremy, I leave the hope of being anything other than a Texan. To my other roommate Victor, I leave a weekend alone with a computer. To Donna and Angela I leave the ability to insult me back. To my family who have always been understanding and helpful I leave my thanks. To Betty whom I could always turn to for anything I leave all my love. Anyone whom I overlooked I'm sorry. Thank you all for everything.

All My Love And Thanks To:

Jeanine, Mark Dillon, Geoff Hirsh, Jim Bensberg,
My teammates Bron, Carla, Jacqui, and Roxi,
Fred, Bob, Joel, all my teachers,
My good friends in Mayville,

 Zardalu answered, without raising his head:
 "If it were not for Teachman would not, I agree, be cast down. He would be extinct."

On Planet Earth,
I'll probably stay,
On Planet Earth,
It's a place to live your life.
Where pleasure follows pain,
People go insane,
Fly around in planes,
Pray that it will rain,
Drive around in cars,
Get drunk in local bars,
Dream of being stars,
Where I can throw my life away -

This is just a page.

I could try to tell you who I am on this page, but I'm not sure I know, so that would be useless. I could try to thank everyone I love for being so lovable, but the list would go on forever, and I'd space out someone and hurt them. They know who they are, I hope. (Incidentally, thanks and I love you!). How about memories . . . God, I do have some of those! But I doubt I'll forget them and you've probably heard enough of sex, drugs, and Rock'n'Roll. So much for that idea. Well, I think I've filled the appropriate amount of space, and since there's no way sum up life or sum up me, I'm glad I didn't try.

Oh yeah, you're simply not allowed to leave these things without THANK YOU MOM and DAD, LESLIE, PETER, and ANDY Luv ya!

The most you'll ever go
Is back where you used to know
If grown-ups could laugh this slow
Where as you watch the hours snow
Years may go by
So hold on to your special friend
Here, you'll need something to keep her in
Now you stay inside this foolish grin
Though any day your secrets end
Then again
Years may go by.

Fall Term

Orientation

Each year the faculty attends Orientation to get to know the students on an informal basis, before heading to the classroom in a week.

Each Fall new students arrive on campus early to participate in the traditional off-campus orientation. This year all of the groups went to the Mountain Campus, after which certain groups headed off for more exotic exploits such as backpacking and fly-fishing.

The purpose of orientation has always been to acquaint the new students with not only fellow students, but life in the Great Outdoors. So now those of you who spent your time cleaning greasy pots in dirty sinks will be able to better appreciate your experience, realizing how character building it was.

Last year at Mountain Campus the class of 1983 constructed a thirteen foot tall wall.

Below: Students carry their gear to the Mountain Campus.

Below middle: Students and faculty unpack their gear.

Solar Dorm

During the Fall and Winter construction was carried out on the new solar dormitory to be located adjacent to Penrose dormitory and behind the academic building. The dormitory cost approximately three-quarters of a million dollars, much of which was donated to the school in the form of an anonymous gift.

Alfred von Bachmayr, the architect designed the dormitory to use solar energy in various ways and to blend in with the Southwest architectural style of the other buildings on campus.

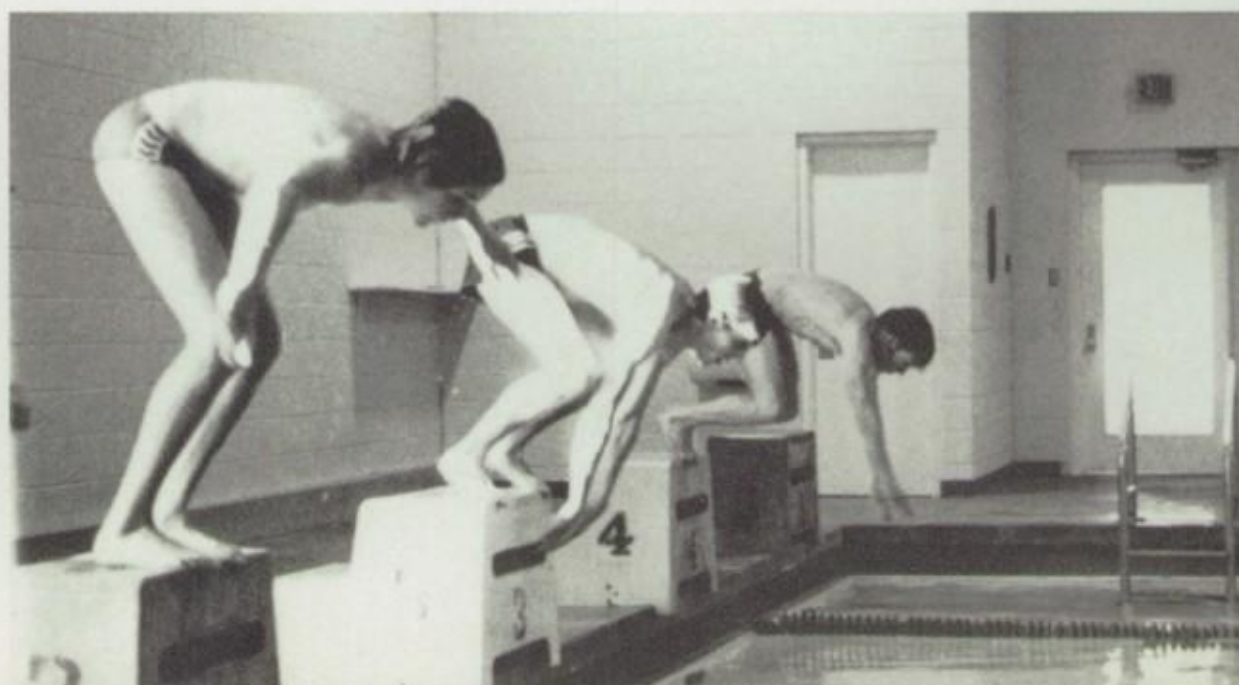

The faculty apartments are located to the east of the two modules, while the student rooms are located to the west, to provide maximum privacy to the faculty and the students. The two modules of the dormitory are to hold one faculty family, one faculty member and thirty-two students.

Skiing

Recreational skiing looks pretty enjoyable in the sequence of four shots below and to the right, featuring Fifth Former Page Nicol.

Gymnastics

Below Monty Moran and Dave Penny are performing backbends on the dance studio floor, an exercise used to stretch muscles and limber up at the beginning of Gymnastics class. Dave, who coaches the sport, encourages everybody to set a few goals that can be met before class ends. He uses equipment which includes a mini-tramp, uneven parallel bars, p-bars, high and low beams, vault, and the horse. At left Pam Terry does a mill circle on the uneven parallel bars.

The Pirates Of Penzance

For many years it has been a tradition at Fountain Valley School to have one Gilbert and Sullivan musical a year. The tradition was not upheld for more than ten years but this year we return to the habit by having performances of the Pirates of Penzance. In the Pirates of Penzance the Pirate King becomes discontented with the state of affairs in England. The military forces are hopeless. The local officer, General Stanley — "the very model of a modern major general" — knows no more of military tactics and gunnery than a novice in a nunnery. Frederic, an orphan apprenticed to the pirates, is freed from his apprenticeship at the age of twenty-one. Frederic aids the timid police, who have been sent against the pirates. By chance it is discovered that Frederic was born on February 29, leap year, and he is apprenticed until his twenty-first birthday. He still has about sixty years to go!

Frederic is forced to reveal to the pirates a trap of the police. At the end the pirates capture the police, but one policeman cries,

"We charge you yield, in Queen Victoria's name!" The pirates throw down their arms and kneel crying:

"We yield at once, with humbled mien,
Because, with all our faults, we love our Queen."

Above right: A chorus of maidens in Victorian England await their chance to sing about life in the quiet seaside town of Penzance. The arrival of pirates has livened up the place considerably. Right: Young Frederic (Mark Moore) and the modern Major General (David Gould) take part with a chorus of pirate lads in the finale of the school's adaptation of Pirates of Penzance.

Best Wishes To The Class Of 1981 From
Carolyn Mackenzie
And Sarah Cole

On rare occasions it is necessary to look back and reflect over many precious memories held dear to our heart. We thank you, Fountain Valley, for providing us with four years full of achievements, laughter, and friendships, and for a family at our home away from home. We will never forget or stop missing you.

Luck and love forever
Claudia and Sarah
1977 - 1981

Thank you, worms, for knowing what we mean.

Congratulations Graduates!

WHEN'S THE LAST TIME YOU CAME TO DINNER?

LAST YEAR MORE THAN 80,000 PEOPLE
FROM 50 STATES AND 35 FOREIGN COUNTRIES
VISITED THE BRO'DMOOR.

Year in and year out, The Broadmoor's tradition of excellence attracts people from all over the world.

And an integral part of The Broadmoor's mystique is its reputation for truly outstanding dining - made famous by the classic English Country House elegance of Charles Court, the gracious Edwardian decor of the Penrose Room and the historic Tavern with its original Toulouse-Lautrec lithographs and tropical Garden Room.

What others travel thousands of miles to enjoy is available to you everyday. Because The Broadmoor belongs to Colorado.

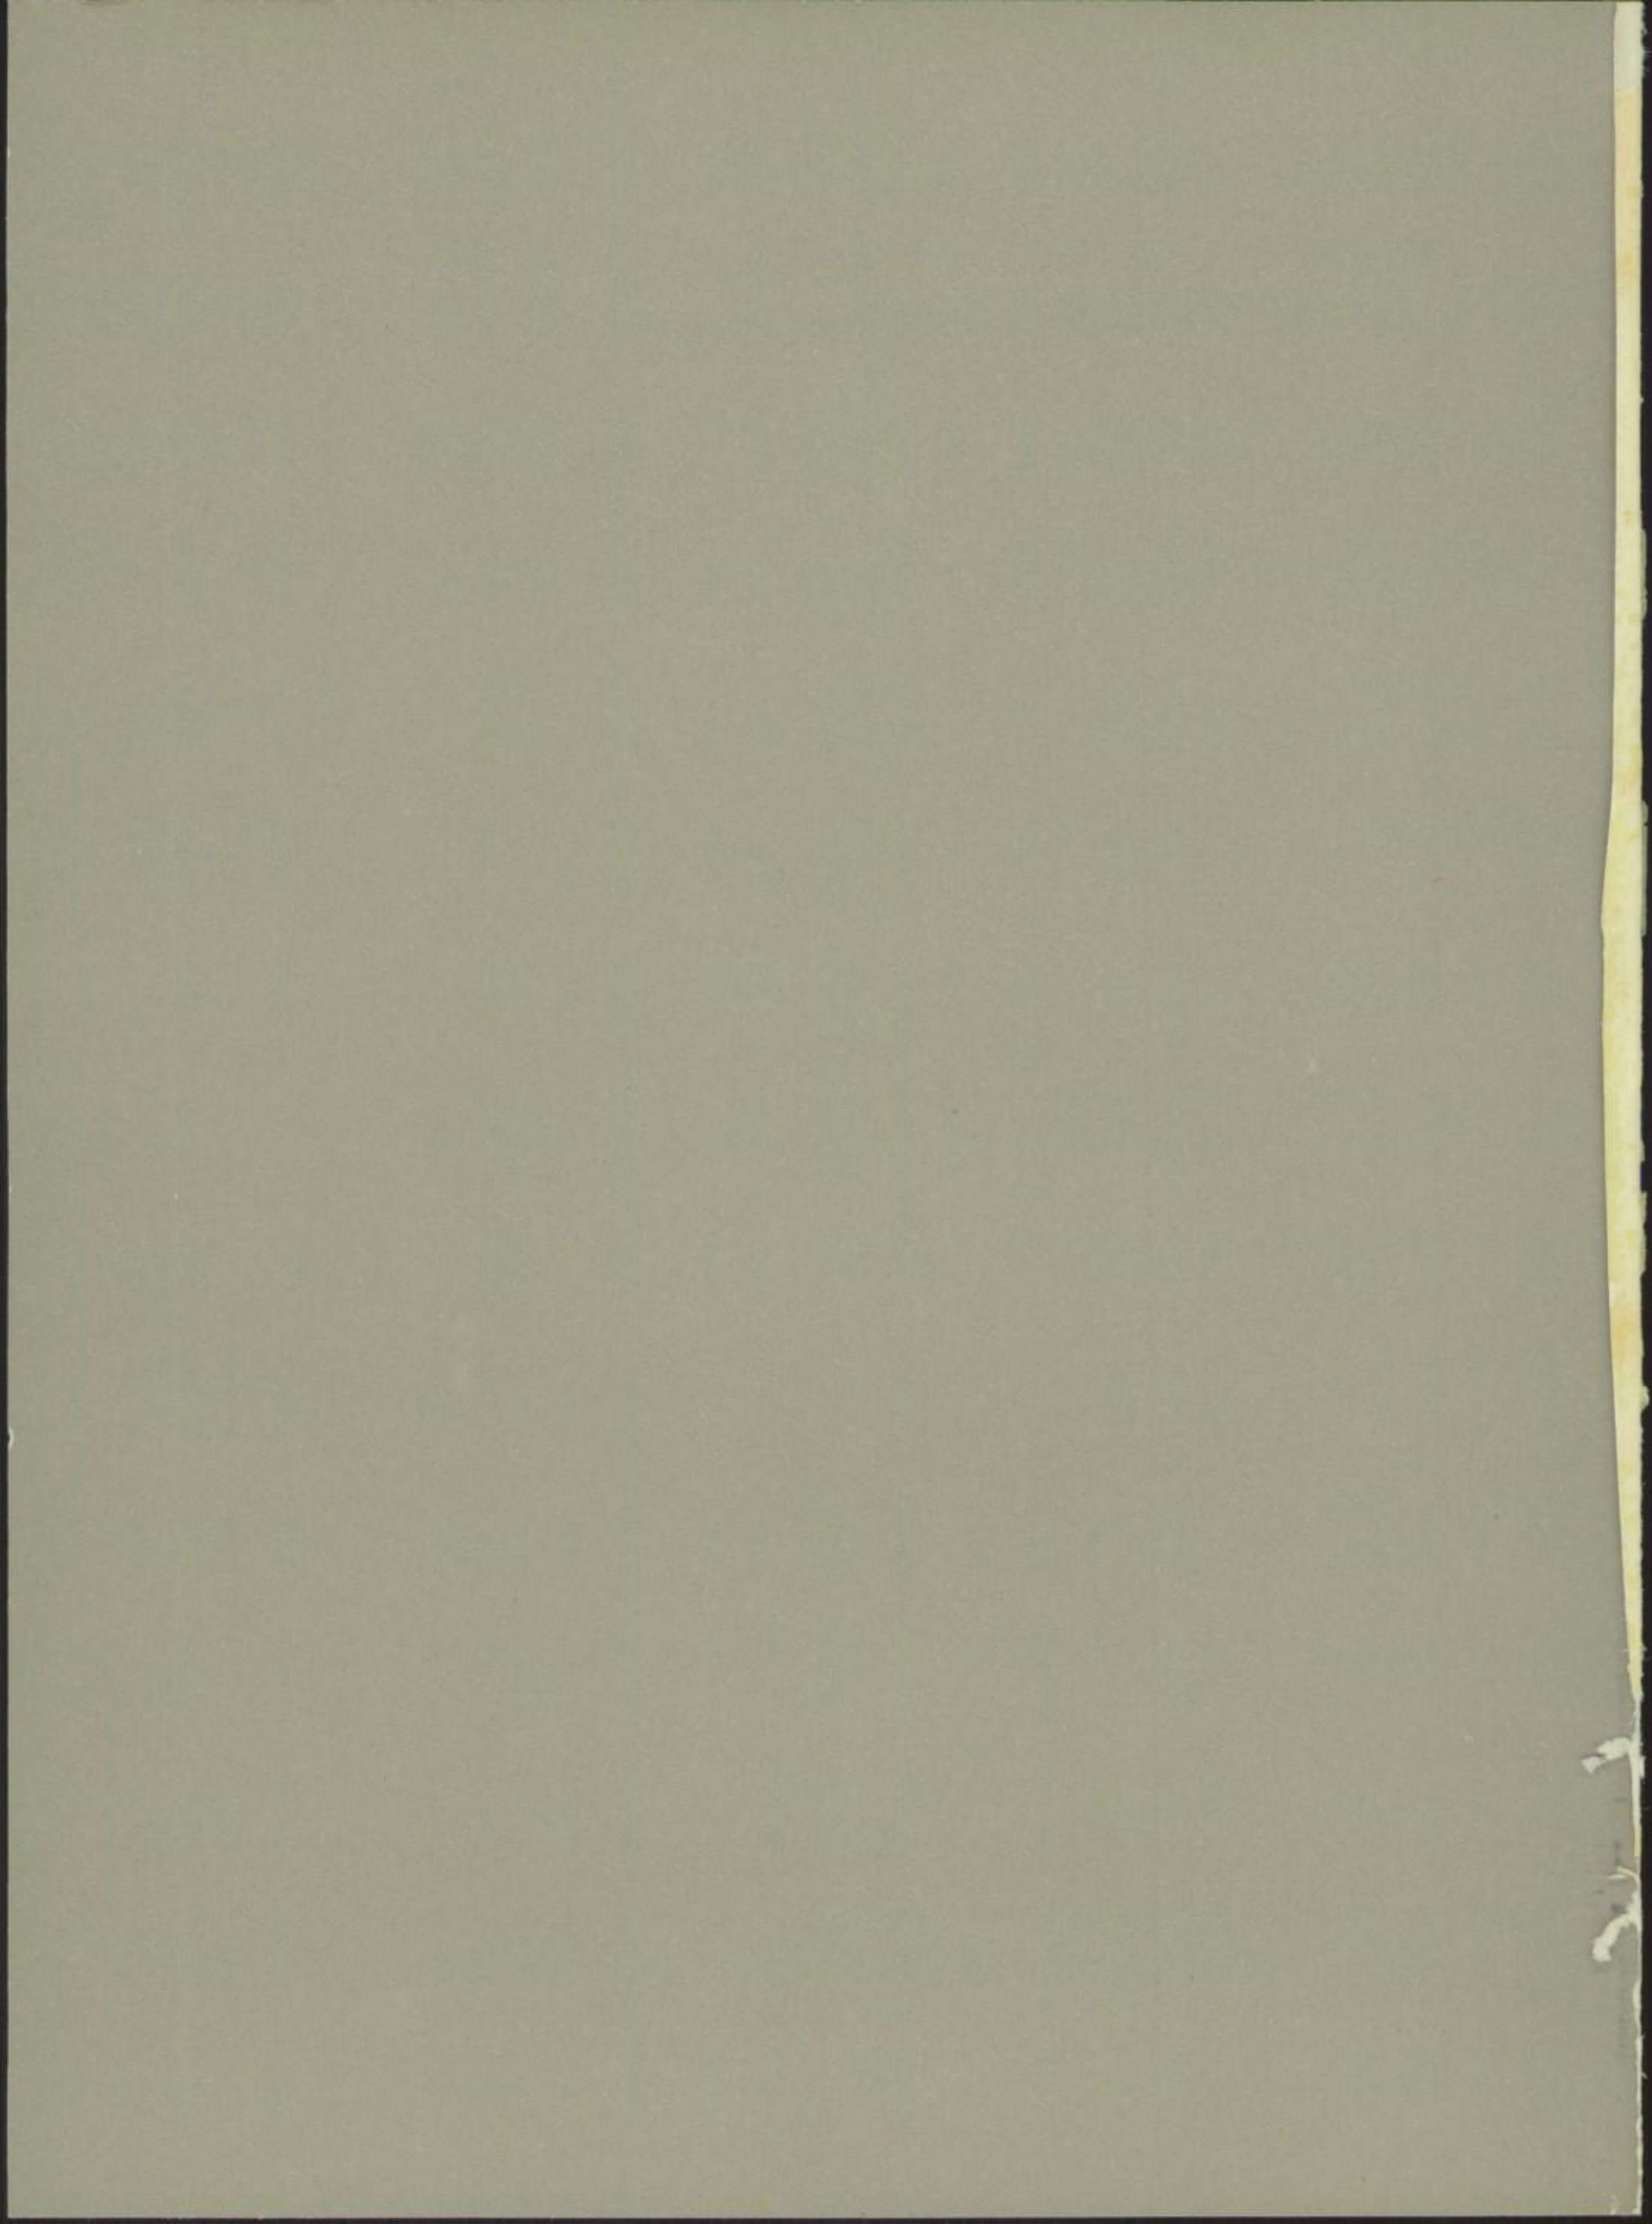

When's the last time you came to dinner?

CASA SERENA

Spring Term at Fountain Valley School has traditionally been the happiest term for all those who live and study here. Sunny days with the mountains as a backdrop set the mood for classes outside and frisbee games. Lacrosse balls are frequently seen smashing through windows. T-shirts and shorts become the fashion for this term. For juniors, Spring Term usually means an American history term paper. Occasional rain and thunderstorms make the production of these papers just a little bit easier. As the year winds down, friendships grow stronger and a mass of activities keep the students busy. Gymkhana is one of the big attractions of the spring, taking up a whole weekend while the whole School community either participates or watches.

Final examinations occur during the last week of school, and the students head for the library or study outside. The Prom fills plenty of students with excitement, and plans for that occasion take weeks. This year the dance was held at the Broadmoor golf club. The Widefield florist was kept busy with requests for corsages, and the restaurants of Colorado Springs were besieged by couples the night of the Prom.

At last the occasion the seniors and their families have awaited for three or four years occurred on June 3. Everyone was kept in a flurry of movement going from the Trustees' tea at the Broadmoor to the Commencement dinner with its presentation of non-academic awards. Wednesday was the headmaster's breakfast, then Graduation. The juniors could be seen watching graduation and calculating the 365 days left for them.

Then it's over, for seniors at least, and in three months the new senior class begins the last leg of its journey through Fountain Valley School.

Campus Life

Mr. Horner, physics teacher who is leaving Fountain Valley this summer for a job in industry, never misses a chance for a bit of instruction. Here he quotes to his canine companion Martha the words of one of this year's graduation addresses. Below you see the Class of 1981, poised, debonaire, sophisticated. (The occasion for such a display of elegance? You guessed it: Senior Freak Day.)

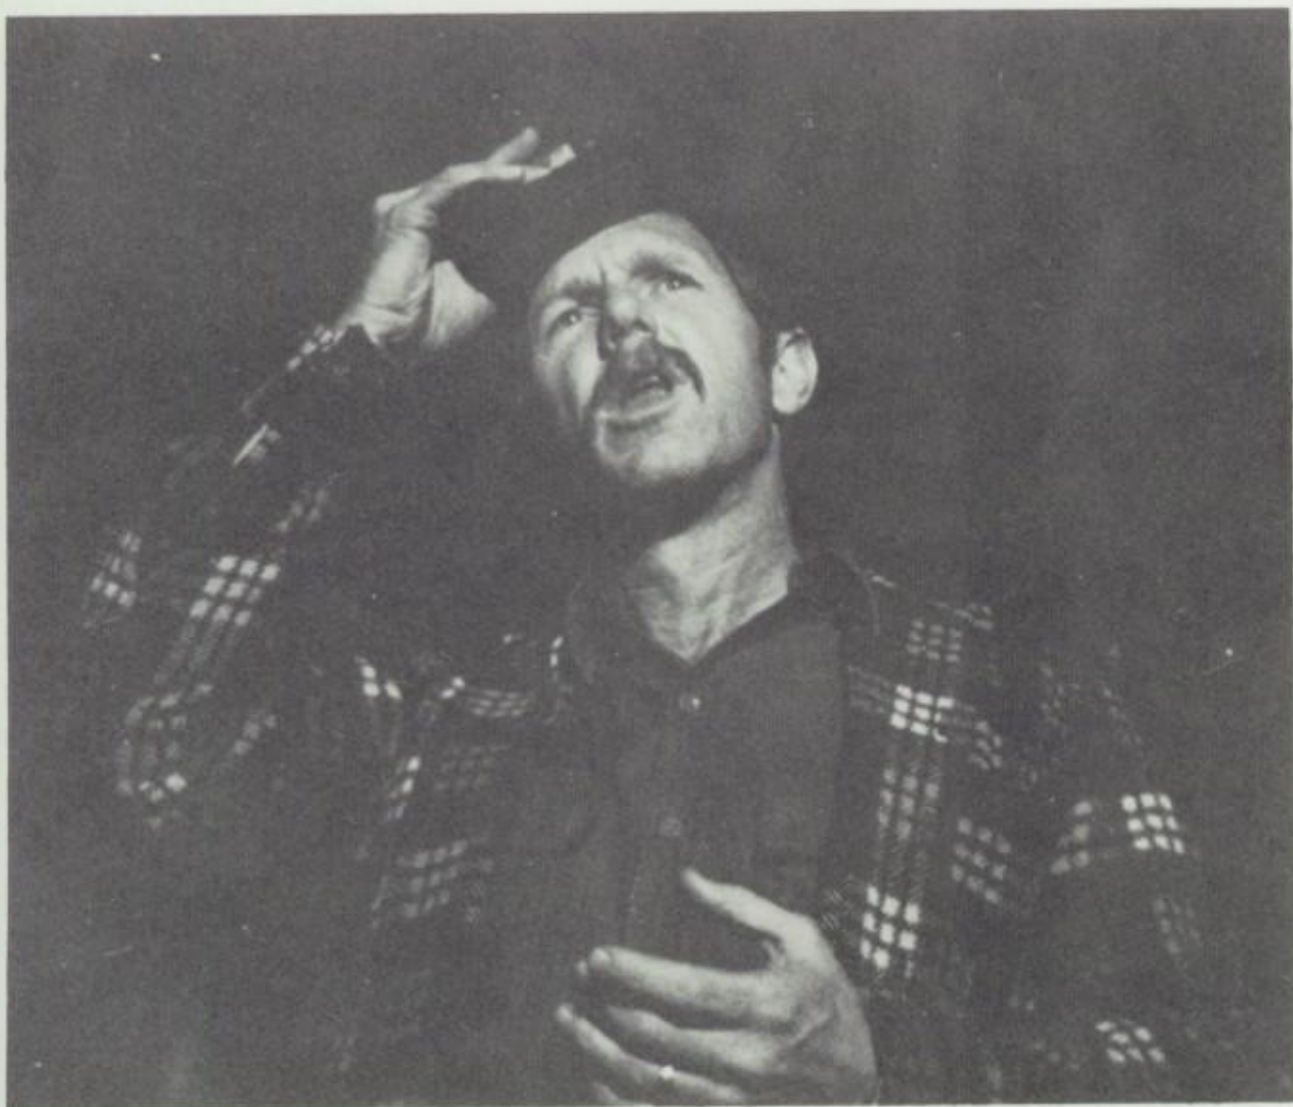

Community Affairs

On the right is one of those Fountain Valley scenes that really do make the school seem a special place. It is dusk on an early spring evening, the chapel is bathed in soft light and gentle air. It is a magic time of day, something to keep for ever.

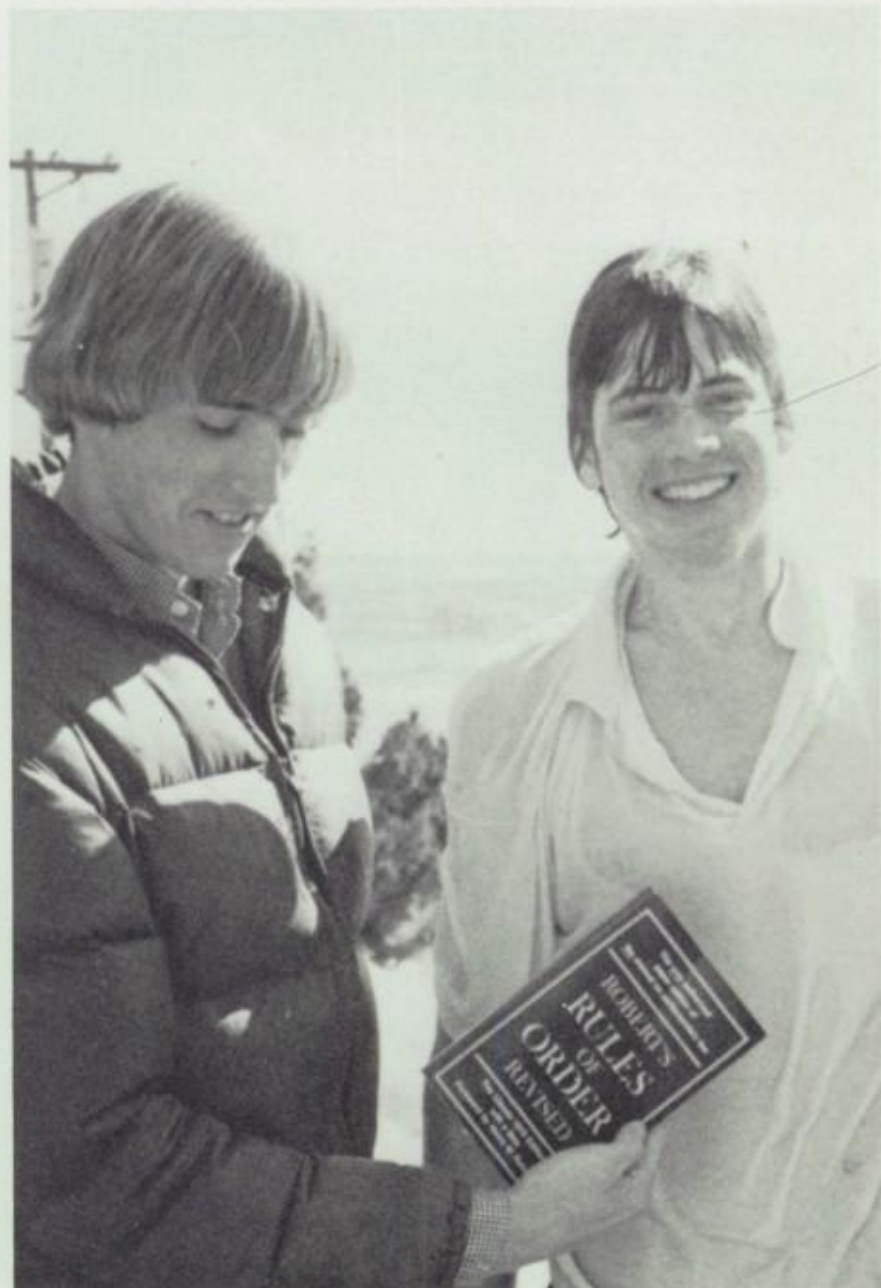

Backgammon (above) is very popular around the picnic table behind Penrose Dormitory. Sophomores Chris Brunson and Guy Gaskill find playing on a sunny May afternoon is a good way to fill the sports time before the day bus leaves. On the right Mrs. Hodges is conducting one of those end of the year classes that just have to be held on the lawn in front of the Academic Building.

Mr. Mariner (left) spins many a yarn in biology class, but when the yearly arts festival comes 'round each May, he really goes to town. In Western dress and drawl he tells quite a tall tale and brings down the house with plenty of laughter. Below a well soaked Tim Smith receives instruction as Community Council president from outgoing school president Porter Gould.

Lacrosse

The Varsity team included, front row: Parker, Knight, Parr, and Carrillo. Middle row; Moeser, Gaines, Witter, Wendt, Tada, and Dieterich. Back row: Randerson, Schwartz, Pierce, Kreps, Judd, Hawk, Gifford, Embree, Sartorius, and Coach Stuart. Right: Fountain Valley has the ball behind the opponent's goal, but who can he pass to?

At the top is the JV lacrosse squad. Front row: Hoecke, Mattivi, Frank, Sanchez, Gould, Haydock, and Jirka. Middle row: Speer, Touw, McElvain, Snapp, Benedict, Moore, Watson, and King. Back row: Coach Thorp, Lee, Woodward, Rosenstock, Parr, M. Moore, P. Sanchez, Horan, Warden, Higginbotham, and Wasteneys. On the left a Fountain Valley player is having trouble with his opponent from the high school at Logan, Utah. And above two players, Cam Moeser and Streeter Parker, show the fatigue and tension that are a part of this sport.

Spring Sports

MACBETH

by William Shakespeare

MACBETH

directed by Hunter Frost

MACBETH

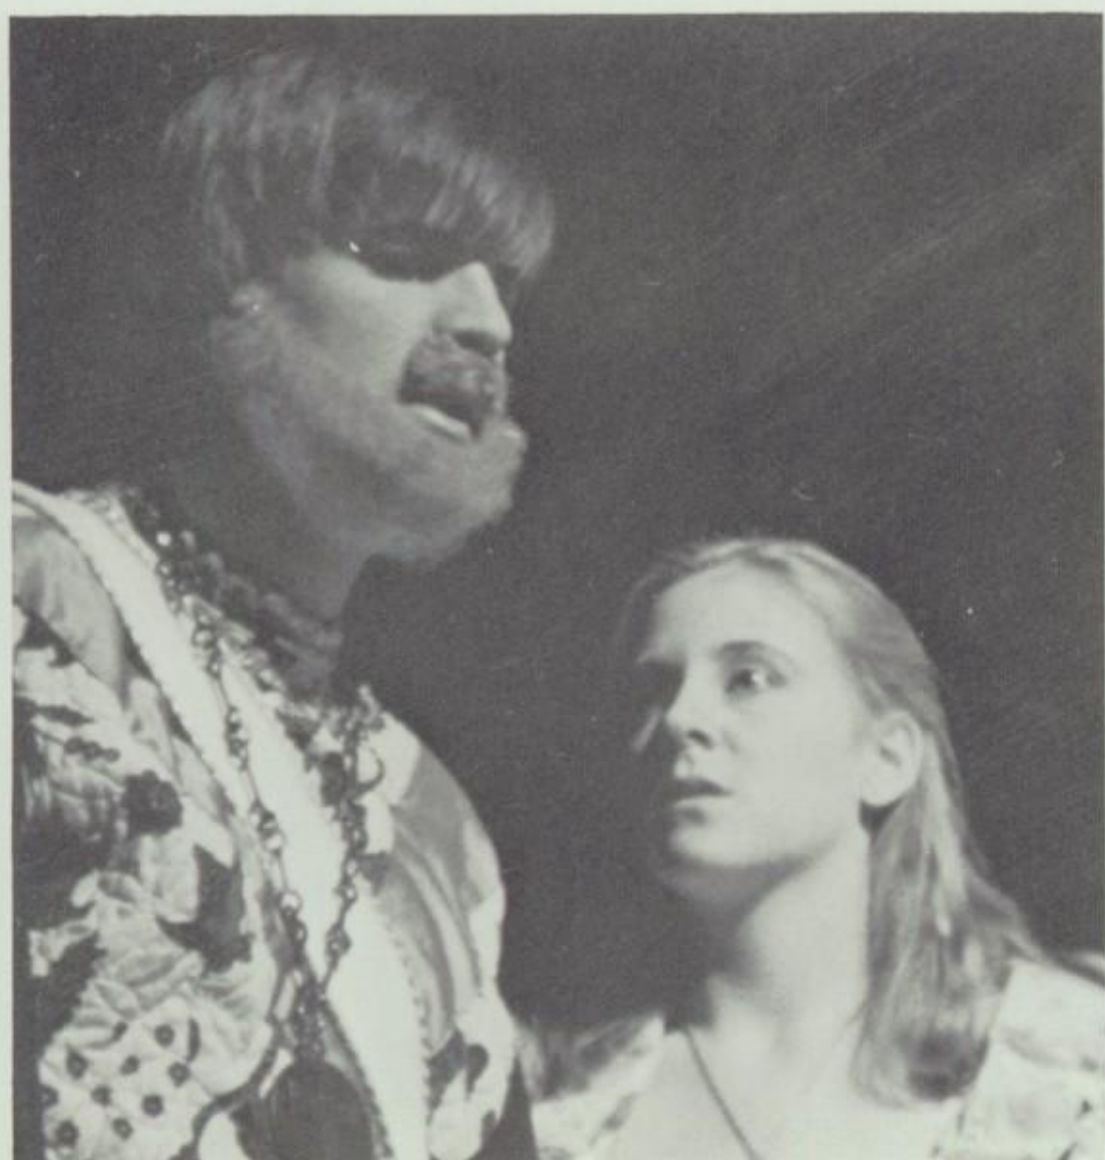

The Fountain Valley School Group Theatre

May 1 and 2, 1981 Curtain at 8:00 p.m.

Shakespearean tragedy is a rarity on the Fountain Valley stage. But an ambitious cast of 28 actors under the direction of Mr. Frost produced Macbeth this spring. Among the leading actors were John Hendrick (Macbeth), Rick Moeser (Banquo), James Affeld (Macduff), and Susan Corkran (Lady Macbeth).

Gymkhana

At the top of the page is the Fountain Valley drill team at this year's gymkhana, the team that put on a first-place performance, downing traditional rival The Abbey School of Canon City. Middle: early arrivals for the afternoon events prepare their mounts. And left: Greg Osborne gets another ring in the tilting competition.

Graduation

Right: Mr. Thorp, chairman of the History Department and principal speaker at the graduation, asks the seniors to go out into the world thinking about someone besides themselves.
